

ELM STREET EPICURE OF VERSAILLES EXPANDS GOURMET OFFERINGS

11/26/07

For Immediate Release

Two year old Elm Street Epicure, LLC, a Versailles gourmet food gift business, known regionally for Cherry Sue Gourmet Granola and Premium Chocolate Dipped Cherries has introduced several new gourmet delicacies this year. The company is taking orders over the internet and has assembled absolutely beautiful gift boxes with a distinctive equine theme for the holiday season.

Individual gift boxes are decorated and ready for local delivery or shipping cross country. Corporate gift boxes can be customized for employees or customers. Prices range from $49.95 - $19.95 plus shipping and tax.

President and owner Doreen Schwalbach of Versailles says the gift giving market place has accepted the new products extremely well, "Orders have been much stronger than we have expected. We have found that the market desires first class gourmet snacks with a Kentucky or equine theme. Our products are either Kentucky Proud or are very high quality. We have partnered with a famous Chicago chocolateer to provide some very fine confections". Elm Epicure has spared no expense on packaging each item with eye catching bags, labels, and finishing touches.

New products include Bluegrass Almondallos fresh almonds rolled in toffee and chocolate dusted with powdered sugar. Derby Supreme Gourmet Nut Mix is a blend of fine nuts, including large cashews, filberts, pecans, almonds and pistachios, absolutely no peanuts or other filler. Another new item is Apples-n-Almonds, a healthy track side snack that tastes like apple strudel! It's a mix of cinnamon apples, lightly salted and roasted almonds and yogurt raisins.

Our gift boxes are filled with Cherry Sue Gourmet Granola, Premium Chocolate Dipped Cherries, Elmwood Inn Teas, Makers Mark Bourbon Coffee and many of the new products.
